Controversy in the literature are identified and questions are formulated that need further research. The third part of the thesis consists of expert interviews derived from the literature review. A guideline for interviews is developed to treat the research gaps in an appropriate way and to meet the complexity of the task setting the explorative survey aims to identify the challenges and drivers of managerial or in BM, and to identify approaches that have not yet been addressed in scientific literature. To a significant extent, the core of the analysis is the splitting of the BM into the elements value proposition, value creation, and value capture. This ensures that all facets of a company's BM are accurately addressed and form the basis for high-quality results. In order to cover a broad range, the paper does not focus on a certain industry. The interviews are conducted with an array of decision-makers in organizations that have attempted or are currently attempting to innovate their BM at the business unit level or the corporate level. A history of how the pro-life movement has advanced the cause of the Roman Catholic Church in her 35th novel, science-fiction master Sheri S. Tepper boldly weaves together the storylines of eleven of her previous works from King S Blood Four (1983) to the Waters Rising (2010) in Fish Tails. Two of Sheri S. Tepper's beloved characters, Abasio and Xulai, a Plague of Angels and the Waters Rising, and their children travel from village to village scattered across the sparsely populated land of Tingawa. They are searching for others who might be interested in adopting their sea-dwelling lifestyle. Along their journey, they encounter strange visitors from the far-off world of Lom, characters from Tepper's nine-book true-game series of novels, Mavin Manyshaped Jjinian Star Eye, and Silkhands The Healer. All of whom have been gathered up by an interfering time-traveling rule-breaking do-gooder to do one last good deed on Earth before its metamorphosis is complete for the waters are rising and will soon engulf the entire planet, transforming it utterly and irrevocably.

How the States Shaped the Nation 2014-04-11

the united states routinely has one of the lowest voter turnout rates of any developed democracy in the world that rate is also among the most internally diverse since the federal structure allows state level variations in voting institutions that have had and continue to have sizable local effects but are expansive institutional efforts like mail in registration longer poll hours and no excuse absentee voting uniformly effective in improving voter turnout across states with how the states shaped the nation melanie jean springer places contemporary reforms in historical context and systematically explores how state electoral institutions have been instrumental in shaping voting behavior throughout the twentieth century although reformers often assume that more convenient voting procedures will produce equivalent effects wherever they are implemented springer reveals that this is not the case in fact convenience voting methods have had almost no effect in the southern states where turnout rates are lowest in contrast the adverse effects associated with restrictive institutions like poll taxes and literacy tests have been persistent and dramatic ultimately springer argues no single institutional fix will uniformly resolve problems of low or unequal participation if we want to reliably increase national voter turnout rates we must explore how states voting histories differ and better understand the role of political and geographical context in shaping institutional effects

In Nancy Bauer's view, most feminist philosophers are content to work within theoretical frameworks that are false to human beings' everyday experiences. Here she models a new way to write about pornography, women's self-objectification, hook-up culture, and other contemporary phenomena and in doing so, she raises basic questions about philosophy.

Most people think they are fairly ethical or at least as ethical as others. In this book, Attorney and insurance professional Dwight M. Kealy walks the reader through contract law, tort law, criminal law, and the department of insurance code as a way to define ethical boundaries for insurance agent conduct. Sometimes the author writes as the attorney representing a client against an insurance agent; sometimes the author writes as the attorney defending the insurance agent. Throughout the book, the author balances these opposing views to expose the relevant legal issues and to encourage the conduct insurance professionals should follow to stay out of court and keep their insurance licenses.

Equal shares tells a fascinating story of the history of a group of dynamic tapestry workers who changed the economic life of their community. The authors examine a key community-based cooperative in Botswana that was launched in the early 1970s and is hailed as a model for development and social change with little formal education, virtually no job experience, still working their own agricultural lands, and many as single mothers. The Co-op workers have maintained their business for over twenty-five years. Equal shares is written in different voices and tells the story of the defining moments in the lives of the Oodi weavers as the workers weave their village stories into the tapestries. The book weaves a story that depicts their evolving collective experience. It's a model of community action inspiring reading for all those fighting to take control of their economic lives.

master s thesis from the year 2017 in the subject business economics business management corporate governance friedrich alexander university erlangen nuremberg language english abstract the goal of this master s thesis is to examine the relationship between managerial or and business model innovations bmis in established organizations in order to meet the complexity of the topic this thesis is focused on factors that hinder or help managers in recognizing business opportunities focusing on incumbent firms this paper conducts further research to identify the main influencing factors including challenges vulnerabilities and obstacles the thesis is divided into six parts starting with a brief description of the research topic including the problem position and objective second a literature review is conducted to summarize the state of research including theoretical foundations in today s scientific literature the two fields of research bml or are by no means treated independently from each other for the time being bml and or are considered independently of each other it is then shown exactly how current literature treats managerial or with respect to bml the results are then synthesized into a summary highlighting what is known and not known the areas of controversy in the literature are identified and questions are formulated that need further research the third part of the thesis consists of expert interviews derived from the literature review a guideline for interviews is developed to treat the research gaps in an appropriate way and to meet the complexity of the task setting the explorative survey aims to identify the challenges and drivers of managerial or in bmi and to identify approaches that have not yet been addressed in scientific literature to a significant extent the core of the analysis is the splitting of the bm into the elements value proposition value creation and value capture this ensures that all the facets of a company s bm are accurately addressed and form the basis for high quality results in order to cover a broad range the paper does not focus on a certain industry the interviews are conducted with an array of decision makers in organizations that have attempted or are currently attempting to innovate their bm at the business unit level or the corporate level
