the french revolution a history in documents explores the rapidly evolving political culture of the french revolution through first hand accounts of the revolutionary and counterrevolutionary actors themselves it demonstrates how radical enlightenment philosophy fused with a governmental crisis to create a moment of new political possibilities unlike any the world had previously seen in so doing the french and their allies generated a template for revolutionary possibility from which virtually all subsequent political movements liberalism abolitionism socialism anarchism conservatism feminism and human rights included derived inspiration as well as providing an invaluable general introduction vital contextual notes and thematic bibliographies micah alpaugh selects a fascinating range of pieces drawing on parisian provincial colonial and even international voices from enlightened dissent to apologias for terror from declarations of human rights to accounts of slave rebellions from passionate arguments for democratization to the authoritarian pronouncements of napoleonic rule this book presents the french revolution's evolution in all its awesome complexity in addition to classic texts alpaugh includes many lesser known sources a number of which are translated into english here for the first time this unique collection of 13 visual sources and over 90 documents incorporating perspectives from across class gender race and nationality provides you with insights into the fervent debates pronouncements and proposals that spawned modern politics unlike some other reproductions of classic texts we have not used ocr optical character recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos in books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc we have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy the french revolution is no dead event in turning over the contemporary records of those tremendous days we feel that we are touching live things from the yellowed pages voices call to us voices that still vibrate with the passions that stirred them more than a century ago here the desperate appeal for liberty and justice there the trumpet call of king and country now the story told with tears of death faced gloriously now a maddened scream of rage against a fellow man when in all the history of the world until the present day has human nature shown itself so terrible and so sublime and is not the fascination that amazing epoch has ever since exercised over the minds of men owing to the fact that the problems it held are still unsolved that the same movements which originated with it are still at work amongst us what we learn to day from the study of the great revolution the anarchist prince kropotkin wrote in 1908 is that it was the source and origin of all the present communist anarchist and socialist conceptions indeed kropotkin goes so far as to declare that up till now modern socialism has added absolutely nothing to the ideas that were circulating among the french people between 1789 and 1794 and which it was tried to put into practice in the year ii of the republic i e in the reign of terror

Reinterpreting the French Revolution 1851
