The contributed volume aims to explicate and address the difficulties and challenges for the seamless integration of two core disciplines of computer science i.e., computational intelligence... and data mining aims at the automatic discovery of underlying non trivial knowledge from datasets by applying intelligent analysis techniques. The interest in this research area has experienced a considerable growth in the last years due to two key factors: a knowledge hidden in organizations databases can be exploited to improve strategic and managerial decision making, and the large volume of data managed by organizations makes it impossible to carry out a manual analysis. The book addresses different methods and techniques of integration for enhancing the overall goal of data mining. The book helps to disseminate the knowledge about some innovative active research directions in the field of data mining, machine and computational intelligence along with some current issues and applications of related topics.

Aniruddha Ray retired as professor of history from the department of Islamic history and culture, University of Calcutta, Kolkata, West Bengal. Well known for his profound interest in historical research, Aniruddha Ray has written extensively about Mughal administration, technology and travelogues, the society and culture of medieval Bengal, the economic history of the sultanate and Mughal periods, overseas trade and merchants, and the French East India Company. On the basis of a fine blending of his knowledge of Bengali English, and French sources as a mark of esteem and affection, scholars in India and abroad have joined hands to offer him this volume. The festschrift reflects the range of Aniruddha Ray's interests and influences in some measure. The theme of the present volume includes the contemporary effort within academia to question the traditional representation of Indian history and the attempts in various areas of study to de-centre the writing of history and to provide an alternative perspective to the history of fifteenth to nineteenth century India. In this eclectic collection of essays, one can see an innovative approach at work which raises interesting questions when one situates these ideas and the historical evidence within the big picture as one moves back and forth between the macro perspective and the micro history addressed in most of these essays. With eminent historians of the subcontinent contributing to it, the varied facets of history essays in honour of Aniruddha Ray throws new light on aspects of Indian history: its sources and their interpretations, the evolution of cultural aspects like languages, especially Hindi and Bengali, archaeology, painting, technology, trade, and commerce, and labour.

Computational intelligence based optimization methods also known as metaheuristic optimization algorithms are a popular topic in mathematical programming; these methods have bridged the gap between various approaches and created a new school of thought to solve real-world optimization problems. In this book, we have selected some of the most effective and renowned algorithms in the literature. These algorithms are not only practical but also provide thought-provoking theoretical ideas to help readers understand how they solve optimization problems. Each chapter includes a brief review of the algorithm's background and the fields it has been used in. Additionally, Python code is provided for all algorithms at the end of each chapter, making this book a valuable resource for beginner and intermediate programmers looking to understand these algorithms.
