the routledge handbook on the american dream volume 2 explores the social economic and cultural aspects of the american dream in both theory and reality in the twenty first century this collection of essays brings together leading scholars from a range of fields to further develop the themes and issues explored in the first volume the concept of the American dream first expounded by James Truslow Adams in the epic of America in 1931 is at once both ubiquitous and difficult to define. The term perfectly captures the hopes of freedom, opportunity, and upward social mobility invested in the nation. However, the American dream appears increasingly illusory in the face of widening inequality and apparent lack of opportunity, particularly for the poor and ethnic or otherwise marginalized minorities in the United States. Such an understanding of the American dream through both theoretical analyses and empirical studies whether qualitative or quantitative is crucial to understanding contemporary America. Like the first volume of the Routledge handbook on the American dream, this collection will be of great interest to students and researchers in a range of fields in the humanities and social sciences. It examines such global problems as war, insecurity, and militarization, the persistence of poverty, the denial of human rights, and environmental destruction. Elkins analyzes policy approaches to the problems through a critique of three UN reports. The first stones bring together the results of recent research on the Neolithic long cairns lying in the shadow of the Black Mountains in South East Wales, focusing upon Penywyrlod and Gwernvale, the two best-known tombs within the group. Previously excavated in the 1970s, important results lie in both new site detail and reassessment of the wider context. Small-scale excavation, geophysical survey, and geological assessment at Penywyrlod, the largest of the Welsh long cairns, gave further information about the distinctive external and internal architecture of the monument. In turn, this opened the opportunity to reassess the pre-monument sequence at Gwernvale with re-examination of both Mesolithic and Neolithic occupations including a timber structure and midden, lithic, and pottery assemblages and cereal remains. The frame for wider reassessment is given by fresh chronological modeling both of the monuments themselves suggesting a sequence from Penywyrlod and Pipton to Ty Isaf and Gwernvale, probably spanning the 38th to the 36th or 35th centuries cal BC and of early Neolithic activity in South Wales and the Marches probably beginning in the 39th century cal BC. A detailed study of the major assemblages of human remains from the Black Mountains tombs includes evidence for diet trauma.

Academic Reading 1998 isabelle meier presents a unique examination of the relationship between grandparents and grandchildren viewed through the lens of analytical psychology this relationship can have a huge impact on psychological development yet it has been largely neglected in studies of the family meier explores both clinical and theoretical material throughout the book in the first part she dissects archetypal images in the intergenerational relationship particularly as shown in fairy tales myths and legends from the wise old woman man to the wicked witch or the old wizard memories and experiences of these archetypes can be stored in the implicit memory and activated later in life the second part looks at the processes and functions of implicit memory and examines the concept of the complex as it applies to grandparents using stern s studies on the present moment and intersubjective phenomena finally in part three meier presents case studies from her own practice grandparents will be essential reading for jungian analysts
