Hawker Aircraft Ltd at Kingston was arguably the most successful and long-lasting manufacturer of military aircraft in Great Britain and Europe in its various evolved manifestations. Hawker Aircraft, Hawker Siddeley Aviation, British Aerospace, its output of war-winning aircraft mainly fighters was unsurpassed from the Hart and Hurricane through the Hunter and Harrier and Hawk. The company consistently produced aircraft that the UK fighting services wanted but some designs for whatever reason failed to reach flight or were declined by the services with their sometimes advanced aerodynamics and technology. These aircraft could have had successful service careers but instead were abandoned. Their stories failing to reach mainstream consciousness having not received their just dues. The present book seeks to redress this omission. The reasons for failure are many and varied often financial or political but in each case the reasons behind the failure of the design are examined in a wide ranging investigation that documents the origins of Hawker Aircraft Ltd and its famous project office. This work, the third in Christopher Budgen's investigation of the inner workings of Hawker Aircraft, is a fitting tribute to the many who made the company the success it was. Essays on contemporary China includes a mid-december issue called buyer guide edition. This is a pictorial history and technical encyclopedia of Hitler's air power in WW II. The conception of the Pegasus engine in 1957 upset all the conventions of aircraft design. It was previously usual for aircraft designers to seek a suitable engine, but this was an engine that sought an aircraft. The aircraft that resulted was the famous Harrier that is still in front line service with air forces around the world including the RAF and US marine corps. This book takes an in-depth look at the engine's original design concept, initial production, and flight testing. It then goes on to explain how the developments and improvements have been made over the ensuing years and includes experiences of operational combat flying both from land and sea. The book is written in a non-technical style that makes comfortable reading for all enthusiasts and historians and is copiously illustrated with many previously unseen photographs and diagrams. A cracking read on the twin engined supersonic long range fighter bomber from the bestselling author of the Hunter Boys and Lightning Boys volumes. Britain at War originally developed for the US Navy, the McDonnell Douglas F-4 Fighter Bomber first flew in the spring of 1958. It then entered service for the US Navy in 1961 and in 1969 with the Fleet Air Arm and RAF in the UK. Regarded as one of the most versatile fighters ever built, the Phantom F-4 was the US Navy's fastest and highest flying aircraft. It was flown by both US military demonstration teams, Navy Blue Angels and the Air Force Thundercats from 1969 to 1973. It ended its service in 1991 with the RAF, but it continues to serve a variety of air forces across the world with some still in service fifty years after its first flight. Throughout the twenty chapters of this book, thirteen contributors will take readers across the world with adventures in the Falkland Islands, the United States of America, the United Kingdom, the Far East, and Germany. There are anecdotes of reconnaissance missions, encounters with the Russian Tupolev's record-breaking flights, and life on Hms Ark Royal.
