since the bible was first written the book of revelation has provided readers with a glimpse of what is to come but even as the world rapidly fulfills the ancient scripture many still avoid its obscure symbolic language which often lends itself to fanatical interpretation in looking into the revelation a seasoned pastor uses various version of the bible to provide a clear explanation of biblical texts relating to the end of the world as we know it dr boyd gray a minister with more than thirty years of experience offers a comprehensive study from the premillennial view based on his opinion that the masses are either not ready for the return of christ or have dismissed it as myth altogether as dr gray works his way through scripture detailing the truths of john the apostle and the predicted tribulations of the antichrist he demonstrates through his interpretations that god s word is the truth a message he hopes will motivate sinners to heed the lord s gracious call to salvation looking into the revelation shares a careful examination of biblical text that seeks to encourage people of all faiths to reexamine their lives and their beliefs and to fall in love with the lord jesus christ asia is headed toward an uncertain and potentially volatile future in the maritime arena the two rising asian powers china and india dependent as they are on seaborne commerce for their economic well being have clearly set their eyes on the high seas yoshihara and holmes offer a stark warning that many strategists in beijing and new delhi appear spellbound by the more militant visions of sea power indeed both powers appear poised to develop the capacity to control the sea lanes through which the bulk of their commerce flows if they enter the nautical environment with such a martial mindset asia could very well fall victim to regional rivalries that give rise to a vicious cycle of competition yoshihara and holmes provide the first examination of the simultaneous rise of two naval powers and the potential impact that such an oceanic reconfiguration of power in Asia could have on long term regional stability. Their study analyzes the maritime interests and strategies of the littoral states in Asia as they prepare for the expected reordering of nautical affairs. This long overdue assessment revisits underlying assumptions that have prevailed among strategy makers and provides a concrete policy framework for reducing the risk of confrontation in Asian waters.

This poses something of a conundrum for those who love the instrument but don't wish to be confined to bluegrass music. My own motives for straying musically were born out of necessity but now the enjoyment and exploration of new musical styles are what guides me. This book and accompanying online video are intended to help anyone who also wants to take their banjo playing to new exciting places. Includes access to online video.

acrimony and hyperpartisanship have seeped into every part of the political process congress is deadlocked and its approval ratings are at record lows america s two main political parties have given up their traditions of compromise endangering our very system of constitutional democracy and one of these parties has taken on the role of insurgent outlier the republicans have become ideologically extreme scornful of compromise and ardently opposed to the established social and economic policy regime in it s even worse than it looks congressional scholars thomas mann and norman ornstein identify two overriding problems that have led congress and the united states to the brink of institutional collapse the first is the serious mismatch between our political parties which have become as vehemently adversarial as parliamentary parties and a governing system that unlike a parliamentary democracy makes it extremely difficult for majorities to act second while both parties participate in tribal warfare both sides are not equally culpable the political system faces what the authors call asymmetric polarization with the republican party implacably refusing to allow anything that might help the democrats politically no matter the cost with dysfunction rooted in long term political trends a coarsened political culture and a new partisan media the authors conclude that there is no silver bullet reform that can solve everything but they offer a panoply of useful ideas and reforms endorsing some solutions like greater public participation and institutional restructuring of the house and senate while debunking others like independent or third party candidates above all they call on the media as well as the public at large to focus on the true causes of dysfunction rather than just throwing the bums out every election cycle until voters learn to act strategically to reward problem solving and punish obstruction american democracy will remain in serious danger

Look, a Negro!
this book debunks the argument that quality in education can only be achieved by limiting or trading off equality the quality of schooling is a major issue for third world nations across the globe however there is no single measure which is universally accepted whether it is as some economists might argue an issue of the number of desks per classroom or one of national sovereignty is widely disputed defining equality in education becomes increasingly difficult in an era of globalization in which there exists a wide gap between rich and poor both within and between nations in the context of an international move towards new right politics and neo liberal economic ideologies both the quality and equality of education are imperiled this book argues that any worthy definition of quality education must include the interests and participation of the underprivileged structuring sense explores the difference between words however defined and structures however constructed it sets out to demonstrate over three volumes that the explanation of linguistic competence should be shifted from lexical entry to syntactic structure from memory of words to manipulation of rules its reformulation of how grammar and lexicon interact has profound implications for linguistic philosophical and psychological theories about human mind and language hagit borer departs from language specific constructional approaches and from lexicalist approaches to argue that universal hierarchical structures determine interpretation and that language variation emerges from the morphological and phonological properties of inflectional material taking form the third and final volume of structuring sense applies this radical approach to the construction of complex words integrating research in syntax and morphology the author develops a new model of word formation arguing that on the one hand the basic building blocks of language are rigid semantic and syntactic functions while on the other hand they are roots which in themselves are but packets of phonological information and are devoid of both meaning and grammatical properties of any kind within such a model syntactic category syntactic selection and argument structure are all mediated through syntactic structures projected from rigid functions or alternatively constructed through general combinatorial principles of syntax such as chomsky s merge the meaning of words in turn does not involve the existence of lexemes but rather the matching of a well defined and phonologically articulated syntactic domain with conceptual content itself outside the domain of language as such in a departure from most current models of syntax but in line with many philosophical traditions then the exo skeletal model partitions meaning into formal functions on the one hand and content on the other hand while the former are read off syntactico semantic structures as is usually assumed content is crucially read off syntactico phonological structures
