Dijkstra once wrote that computer science is no more about computers than astronomy is about telescopes despite the many incredible advances in computer science from times that predate practical mechanical computing there is still a myriad of fundamental questions in understanding the interface between computers and the rest of the world why is it still hard to mechanize many tasks that seem to be fundamentally routine even as we see ever increasing pacity for raw mechanical computing the disciplined study of domain specific languages dsls is an emerging area in computer science and is one which has the potential to revolutionize the eld and bring us closer to answering this question dsls are formalisms that have four general characteristics they relate to a well defined domain of discourse be it controlling tra c lights or space ships they have well defined notation such as the ones that exist for prescribing music dance routines or strategy in a football game the informal or intuitive meaning of the notation is clear this can easily be overlooked especially since intuitive meaning can be expressed by many different notations that may be received very di erently by users the formal meaning is clear and mechanizable as is hopefully the case for the instructions we give to our bank or to a merchant online.

along with burnout vicarious traumatization compassion stress and secondary traumatic stress the condition of caregivers who become too tired to care compassion long seen as the foundation of ethical caring is increasingly understood as a threat to the well being of those who offer it through the lens of hermeneutic phenomenology the authors present an insider phenomenological account of the experience of time and space and on personal and professional relationships accounts of health professionals alongside examinations of poetry images movies and literature are used to explore the notions of compassion hope and hopelessness as they inform the meaning of caring work the authors frame their exposé of compassion fatigue with the very canadian metaphor of lying down in the snow if suffering is imagined as ever falling snow then the need for training and resources for safe journeying in winter country becomes apparent recognizing the phenomenon of compassion fatigue reveals the role that health services education and the moral habitability of our healthcare environments play in supporting professionals ability to act compassionately and to endure climate change is one of the This book adopts a novel analytical approach to understanding how Russia’s stalled democratisation is related to the incomplete liberalisation of the economy. Based on extensive original comparative study of Russia’s regions, the book explores the precise channels of interaction that created the mutuality of property rights, entrepreneurship, rule of law, norms of citizenship, and liberal democracy. It demonstrates that the extent of democratisation varies across regions and that this variation is connected to the extent of liberalisation of the economy. Moreover, it argues that the key factor in producing this linkage is the relative prominence of small business owners and their supporters in articulating their interests vis-à-vis regional and local administrations. Especially through the institutionalisation of networks and business associations, the book develops its key theses by means of detailed analysis of the experiences of four case study regions. Overall, the book provides a major contribution to understanding the path of democratisation in Russia, this leading text offers a comprehensive, richly nuanced, and authoritative introduction to European geography. Coverage encompasses the entire region, its physical setting and environment, population and migration, languages and religions, and political organization. Particular attention is given to historic and contemporary features of the diverse urban environments in which most Europeans live, work, and play. Combining vivid description, essential information, and cogent analysis, the text is illustrated with more than 200 photographs and 64 maps. New to this edition, fully updated to reflect ongoing changes in this dynamic region, expanded coverage of timely topics such as emissions and energy policy, aging of the population, migration, religiosity and secularization, ethnonationalism, health care, popular culture, and the future of the European Union, and many other topics. fakultät wirtschaftswissenschaften language abstract this doctoral thesis examines how european merger control law is applied to the energy sector and to which extent its application may facilitate the liberalisation of the electricity natural gas and petroleum industries so that only those concentrations will be cleared that honour the principles of the liberalisation directives in 2007 the commission emphasized that a real internal european energy market is essential to meet europe s three energy objectives these were for example competitiveness to cut costs for citizens and undertakings to foster energy efficiency and investment sustainability including emissions trading and security of supply with high standards of public service obligations the eu issued three pre liberalisation directives since the 1990s dissatisfied with the existing monopolistic structures in germany through demarcation and exclusive concession agreements for the supply of electricity and natural gas which were until 1998 exempted from the cartel prohibition provision and the prevalence of exclusive rights on the energy markets the commission triggered infringement proceedings against four member states the cjeu confirmed that the commission has the power to abolish monopoly rights under certain circumstances and the rulings had the effect of convincing the member states to negotiate the opening up of energy markets owing to the internal market energy liberalization directives 1996 1998 2003 2009 2019 the 2nd liberalisation package of 2003 brought a widening of market opening and acceleration of pace of market opening to a greater number of eligible customers and an increase in the provisions on management and legal unbundling the 3rd energy package of 2009 addressed ownership unbundling of key infrastructure ownership and energy wholesale and retail supply consisting of three regulations and two directives the 4th liberalization package inter alia consists of a new iemd2019 and igmd2019 and addresses energy efficiency and rules on good governance in the energy union a brief analysis of the economic implications of concentrations is followed by an assessment of the evolution of european merger control law since 1989 1997 and 2004 then the theoretical findings are contrasted to the results of recent merger proceedings in the energy sector recent outbreaks of illnesses traced to contaminated sprouts and lettuce illustrate the holes that exist in the system for monitoring problems and preventing foodborne diseases although it is not solely responsible for ensuring the safety of the nation s food supply the u s food and drug administration fda oversees monitoring and intervention for 80 percent of the food supply the u s food and drug administration s abilities to discover potential threats to food safety and prevent outbreaks of foodborne illness are hampered by impediments to efficient use of its limited resources and a piecemeal approach to gathering and using information on risks enhancing food safety is at the forefront of the food and drug administration a new book from the institute of medicine and the national research council responds to a congressional request for recommendations on how to close gaps in fda s food safety systems enhancing food safety begins with a brief review of the food protection plan fpp fda s food safety philosophy developed in 2007 the lack of sufficient detail and specific strategies in the fpp renders it ineffectual the book stresses the need for fpp to evolve and be supported by the type of strategic planning described in these pages it also explores the development and implementation of a stronger more effective food safety system built on a risk based approach to food safety management conclusions and recommendations include adopting a risk based decision making approach to food safety creating a data surveillance and research infrastructure integrating federal state and local government food safety programs enhancing efficiency of inspections and more although food safety is the responsibility of everyone from producers to consumers the fda and other regulatory agencies have an essential role in many instances the fda must carry out this responsibility against a backdrop of multiple stakeholder interests inadequate resources and competing priorities of interest to the food production industry consumer advocacy groups health care professionals and others enhancing food safety provides the fda and congress with a course of action that will enable the agency to become more efficient and effective in carrying out its food safety mission in a rapidly changing world Domain-Specific Languages 2009-07-02 dijkstra once wrote that computer 2010-02-02 doctoral thesis dissertation from the year 2020 in the subject law European and international law intellectual properties grade 2 2 Leuphana Universität Lüneburg fakultät wirtschaftswissenschaften language English abstract. This doctoral thesis examines how European merger control law is applied to the energy sector and to which extent its application may facilitate the liberalisation of the electricity, natural gas, and petroleum industries so that only those concentrations will be cleared that honour the principles of the liberalisation directives in 2007. The commission emphasized that a real internal European energy market is essential to meet Europe's three energy objectives. These were for example competitiveness to cut costs for citizens and undertakings to foster energy efficiency and investment sustainability including emissions trading and security of supply with high standards of public service obligations. The EU issued three pre-liberalisation directives since the 1990s. Dissatisfied with the existing monopolistic structures in Germany through demarcation and exclusive concession agreements for the supply of electricity and natural gas which were until 1998 exempted from the cartel prohibition provision and the prevalence of exclusive rights on the energy markets, the commission triggered infringement proceedings against four member states. The CJEU confirmed that the commission has the power to abolish monopoly rights under certain circumstances and the rulings had the effect of convincing the member states to enter into negotiations for an opening up of energy markets. The internal market energy liberalisation directives 1996, 1998, 2003, 2009, 2019. The 2nd liberalisation package of 2003 brought a widening of market opening and acceleration of pace of market opening to a greater number of eligible customers and an increase in the provisions on management and legal unbundling. The 3rd energy package of 2009 addressed ownership unbundling of key infrastructure ownership and energy wholesale and retail supply consisting of three regulations and two directives. The 4th liberalization package inter alia consists of a new iemd2019 and igmd2019 and addresses energy efficiency and rules on good governance in the energy union. A brief analysis of the economic implications of concentrations is followed by an assessment of the evolution of European merger control law since 1989, 1997, and 2004. Then, the theoretical findings are contrasted to the results of recent merger proceedings in the energy sector.

The role of the food and drug administration a new book from the Institute of Medicine and the National Research Council responds to a congressional request for recommendations on how to close gaps in FDA's food safety systems enhancing food safety begins with a brief review of the Food Protection Plan (FPP). planning described in these pages it also explores the development and implementation of a stronger more effective food safety system built on a risk based approach to food safety management conclusions and recommendations include adopting a risk based decision making approach to food safety creating a data surveillance and research infrastructure integrating federal state and local government food safety programs enhancing efficiency of inspections and more although food safety is the responsibility of everyone from producers to consumers the fda and other regulatory agencies have an essential role in many instances the fda must carry out this responsibility against a backdrop of multiple stakeholder interests inadequate resources and competing priorities of interest to the food production industry consumer advocacy groups health care professionals and others enhancing food safety provides the fda and congress with a course of action that will enable the agency to become more efficient and effective in carrying out its food safety mission in a rapidly changing world
